

Great potato weigh-in

Winner of the Costwold School potato growing competition was Eimi Honogo, above, from year 1 with her potatoes weighing 900g.

The competition, organised by the school's gardening club, started last year and saw each of the 22 classrooms in the school look after one potato plant.

Proving popular, the competition was opened up to the Cotswold community this year and more than 80 families were given a seed potato and a numbered bag to grow as part of the challenge. The official weigh-in day was on December 10 with categories for heaviest potato, funniest shape potato and the largest
