

Cotswold Primary School students Sarah Bealing and Taylin Smith enjoy a game of squash.

Youngsters get into the swing of squash

Pupils at Cotswold Primary School have been learning some new skills by spending time in a portable squash court.

Canterbury squash representatives gave two lessons to each of the nine senior school classes at the school.

Cotswold School teacher Liz Davies said:

"The children really enjoy their squash time as it's a lot of fun.

"We are all trying to get back to normal after the continuing aftershocks, and having the squash court offers a new opportunity."

She said the children had learnt serving above the service line, correct grip of a squash racket, ball control and teamwork.
